

Acrostic - Number 27 - Tribute

BILL KENWRIGHT

All Copyrights - John McEwan - The Liver Bard

Born in Nineteen Forty-Five in Liverpool, just after World War 2 had ended.
In Boyhood Dreams, he'd be an Everton Legend, no Freudian Slip intended.
Longed to be a Pop Star, formed a Group, but failed to break into the Charts.
Looked next towards an Acting Career, playing many low paid, Minor Parts.
His big break came in Coronation Street, in the Role of Betty Turpin's Son.
Keen to give New Talent a Chance, he became a Theatrical Agent in London.
Everton, meantime had declined alarmingly, in desperate need of a Saviour.
Now a more Dynamic side of Bill emerged, from his usual reticent behaviour.
With all Odds stacked against him, this Ardent Fan became a Ruthless Sultor.
Rescuing his 'Beloved Blues' as Chairman, towards a more Exciting Future.
In Entertainment, Shows can be an Overnight Success, or a First Night Flop.
Give this Gifted Impresario his due, it took a long, hard slog to reach the Top.
How complex Lifelong Journeys are, with Twists coming almost every Mile.
That modest Lad Bill, who aimed so High, grabbed his Opportunities in Style.

more Poems on website > www.liverbard.co.uk